

Maudsley Training Programme Open Evening 'How do I combine research with clinical training?'

The Maudsley rotation is the largest psychiatric training programme in Europe, and allows clinicians in specialist training to gain academic skills at a world-class university in partnership with a leading NHS Foundation Trust. We are part of the King's Health Partners, Academic Health Science Centre and have very close links with the Institute of Psychiatry, Psychology and Neuroscience (IoPPN), part of King's College London and the only National Institute of Health Research (NIHR) Biomedical Research Centre which specialises in Mental Health Research, providing opportunities to develop research and educational skills across a broad range of methodologies and patient groups.

Whether you are interested in developing research ideas while a clinical trainee, or in academic training pathways our programme has something to offer. Come to the Maudsley open evening to find out more about our scheme, hear from current trainees and discover what opportunities are available to get involved in research and enhance your career.

04th October 2017 18:00 – 20:00

Wolfson Lecture Theatre, Institute of Psychiatry, Psychology and Neuroscience,
16 De Crespigny Park, London SE5 8AF

Register here today

<https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/e/mtp-open-evening-how-do-i-combine-research-with-clinical-training-tickets-36271139956>

 KING'S HEALTH PARTNERS

An Academic Health Sciences Centre for London

Pioneering better health for all